

A photograph of a forest with a fallen tree trunk in the foreground. The forest consists of many tall, thin trees with light-colored bark, likely birches. The ground is covered with green vegetation, including ferns and other plants. A large, dark, charred tree trunk lies horizontally across the middle ground, partially obscured by the greenery. The background shows a dense stand of trees extending into the distance under a bright, overcast sky.

Квартал 69 Выдел 2
Широта 56.59'27
Долгота 42.59'31
28.10.2024 г